

Wanted Apprentice Electricians

The Battle Creek Electrical Apprenticeship is looking for hard-working, energetic people to be taught the respected trade of Electrician. If you like to work with your hands in a job that also challenges your brain then this may be the career for you. Thousands of electricians work to build this country every day. Electrical systems power and control our society and someone has to install them.

Why not you?

If you are looking for a challenging career that pays well with health and pension benefits, and a future, then you should submit your application to our apprenticeship program for consideration.

Apprenticeship is an earn-while-you-learn program. You will work for, and be paid by, one of our member contractors on a job site with experienced Journeymen Electricians. There you will be taught the trade for 9 out of every 10 week days. One day every two weeks you will attend school to learn electrical theory in a classroom setting.

Apply @ www.bcejatc.com